"I'm very satisfied with what you did 5 years ago and that's why I called you back. The one treatment at age 13 did it. I'm going with the ROTban plan again, which will add further years to my roof. Obviously I'd use it again and recommend it to anyone."

- Steve Cartland – owner of this 18 year old roof.

ROTban spray and maintenance was done in 2003. It's in excellent condition for its age. The lichen shown on the top cap is the only evidence of moss, and although algae is colonizing, the overall wood condition is rot free and clean looking.

This field and cap view shows a roof that's healthy. The caps are now 3 years older than most caps are when in need of replacement and still have another 3 years life with some repairs and a repeat ROTban spray.

Another demonstration photo of ROTban empowered, superb resistance to rot, showing this roof's butts are rot free, even at the gutter, where the most water from the roof crosses. At this age, most cedar roofs in this area are nearly finished.
